Dream Team of Speakers Slated for Atlanta Women's Leadership Development Conference

ANNOUNCEMENT:

Record crowds of professional and corporate women will converge on the Georgia World Conference Center on May 2 for the Possible Woman 10th Anniversary Corporate Women's Leadership Conference in Atlanta.

A powerful line up of keynote speakers includes internationally known women - Marta Sahagun de Fox, former First Lady of Mexico and noted voice on women's issues and social responsibility, TV personality Judge Glenda Hatchett, and Space Shuttle Commander Colonel Eileen Collins. They'll be joined by Jim Huling, CEO of MATRIX Resources, author and leadership consultant, Tory Johnson, founder of Women for Hire, and author Robyn Freedman Spizman. Together they make this a must attend event for professional women everywhere.

"We wanted to make our 10th anniversary conference special and we have with our stellar line up of keynotes and speakers. They will fit right in with our 'Dare to Dream' theme," said Linda Wind, CEO of Possible Woman Enterprises. "Each of them has a real passion that comes from living their dream every day. They are inspirational, providing both practical advice and motivation to group of more than 2,000 corporate women and women business owners. Their message will resonate with all of our audience, whether it's young women just beginning to move up the ranks of management or those who've shattered the glass ceiling."

About Possible Woman Leadership Conferences

With the reputation of offering world-class business conferences and corporate training programs that target the Fortune 500 and women-owned companies, PWE's Women's Leadership Development Conference is quickly becoming the premier women's business conference in the Southeast. Many corporate training programs use PWE Conferences for their high potential employees and management personnel.

This one-day leadership development conference is a cost-effective vehicle for corporations and women owned businesses. Attracting corporate and professional women from all walks of life, and providing opportunities for women leaders to connect with women executives from all over the world, PWE offers unparalleled opportunities for women's growth and development. In addition, a portion of all proceeds benefit the Possible Woman Foundation International, founded by Linda Wind, to award non-traditional academic scholarships to women returning to the workplace.
